Join us as we explore the Great Baltimore Fire, a disaster that raged for 30 hours and destroyed much of downtown Baltimore. One of the largest urban fires in American history, it leveled 1,500 buildings, damaged 1,000 more, and left 35,000 people unemployed.

But this is also a story of resilience. Rising from the ashes, Baltimore rebuilt with wider streets, safer buildings, and a renewed vision for the future. We will examine the city's recovery, the ten buildings that survived, the courageous citizens and firefighters who faced the blaze, a heroic horse named Goliath, and the surprising role of the Jones Falls in helping save the city.

Using original photographs, videos, oral histories, and handouts, this course brings to life one of the most remarkable stories of destruction, recovery, and determination in American history.
