Ever wonder what really happens behind the scenes in government? This course offers an insider's look at how public policy is shaped, how elected officials and agencies make decisions, and how the three branches of government work together. Through real-world examples and practical insights, participants will gain a better understanding of the political process and learn how citizens can effectively influence government at the local and state levels.

Izzy Patoka is a public servant, community leader, and educator with extensive experience in government, public policy, and civic engagement. He brings a practical, real-world perspective to the classroom, helping participants better understand how government works and how they can become informed and effective advocates in their communities.
